DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's cancellation of claims 3-5, 10-13, amendment of claims 2, 6-9, 14-16 and the addition of new claims 17-34, in the paper of 5/4/2007, is acknowledged. Claims 1, 2 6-9, 14-34 are pending and at issue.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in response to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1, 2, 14, 15-27, 33, 34 drawn to a family A DNA polymerase.

Group II, claim(s) 6-9, drawn to a nucleic acid encoding a family A DNA polymerase.

Group III, claim(s) 28-32, drawn to a method of performing a nucleic acid extension reaction.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Where a group of inventions is claimed in an application, the requirement of unity of invention shall be fulfilled only when there is a technical relationship among those inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features. The expression "special technical features" shall mean those technical features that define a contribution which each of the claimed inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art. Minnick et al. (Journal of Biological Chemistry, Vol 274, No. 5, pp 30676, 1999) teach a family A DNA polymerase which has a modified motif C sequence and an enhanced mismatch discrimination as compared to the corresponding wild type polymerase, or a Klenow fragment thereof, wherein in the motif C sequence QVH in positions 879-881, based on the E. coli DNA polymerase Klenow fragment shown in SEQ ID NO: 2, at least the amino acid residue Q879 has been replaced by a lipophilic amino acid residue. Thus, the shared technical feature of the groups is not a "special technical feature", unity of invention between the groups does not exist.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

- 1) Each of those polymerases listed in claim 17 is a distinct species.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits from each of species 1) to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1, 2 6-9, 14-34 are generic to species 1).

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Each of the above designated species are drawn to structurally different mutant proteins such that they do not share a special technical feature.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
